Patented Sidewall Construction Technology

Fibercore Wall System™ is a design feature that is unique to Bigfoot 3000 and 4000 Series models of Motorhomes, and cannot be found anywhere else in the RV industry.

The wall, roof and floor of the RV are framed with an insulated tubular aluminium structure, and are then injected with a polyurethane insulation material that provides superior insulation values when compared to conventionally bonded sidewalls.

Bigfoot Quality

A Lean Certified manufacturing process assures a buyer that their unit has been inspected at every step of production, and even the slightest flaws are corrected before the unit moves to the next step of the assembly process.

In 2005 Bigfoot Industries was awarded Lean Certification as a world-class manufacturer of quality Motorhome, Truck Camper and Travel Trailer recreational products.

Our commitment to produce products at the highest standard of quality begins long before a unit enters the assembly line. With the end user in mind, Bigfoot Industries designs, selects materials and approaches production with the mindset of delivering the best quality to our customers.

To produce quality, each production line craftsman contributes to an efficient assembly process that eliminates waste of materials, inconsistencies in finishing and unnecessary requirements on the production line resources.

A discerning buyer will invest in the quality and style delivered in a Bigfoot Motorhome. Incomparable in construction quality, finishing and storage space, Bigfoot Motorhomes are built and designed with you in mind.
